Your entry in the Wine-Guide provides an important impulse for buying and it is daily read by thousands of wine lovers, retailers and importers.

Visibility of your wines

As a member, ALL Wein-Plus visitors can look for and retrieve the profile page of your winery, as well as your wines' evaluations.

However, the results of the wine-tasting for wineries which are not members are visible only by other members of Wein-Plus.

There is a producer behind each wine - A profile photo can raise the interest to your wines!

Most times, a wine is judged plainly by its taste and its quality. However, lots of wine-lovers are interested into the face behind the product, who is making the wine and applies his wine-philosophy on it. As Wein-Plus members, we offer you the possibility to present yourself and your winery through an appealing profile photo to the wine enthusiast and readers of our Wine-Guide! Please note that your logo or your wine labels are not to be posted at this page.

Use this easy and effective possibility in order to establish an even more attractive and inviting entry of your winery in our Wine-Guide!

More photos, videos and other downloadable information at your entry

As members you may add additional photos and videos of your winery and transform your entry into a more attractive one. Even your pricelist could be downloaded through some mouse-clicks only – and this can be changed and updated as often as needed. Publish here the labels and photos of your wines and raise the brand recognition of the wines from the retailers and restaurants. An example of how such a winery entry looks like could be the following example of

Make direct reference to the supply channels of your wines

Only producers with a membership can enter below their profile all possible supply channels of their wines.

This makes the ordering of the wines for every Wein-Plus User really easy - with only a click to the link of the supplier, he may buy your wines online.

Producers classification

Once your wines are proved over some vintages to have a good quality level, our editorial grants you with the seal "Classified Producer". This quality seal may be used publicly only by members. This seal allows your wines to be significantly far from the average in tasting rooms, wine trades and other events. All this opens up new sale opportunities - without costing you a single extra cent!

Reach international importers and other interested parties

As a member, your wines can be reached by an international audience. The descriptions of wines with more than 85 points are translated in English and therefore are understood by importers, retailers and wine consumers around the world.

Information about your wines available by smartphone

All this information will be soon also available in a more direct way, at the wine shelf or at the table of a restaurant: through the popular Barcoo-App, you will only need to quickly scan the barcode and all the relevant information and wine tasting results of Wein-Plus will be available to the users.
